The Knight And The Dragon

Typical de Paola style of illustrations, this tells more in pictures than words, the story of a knight and a dragon who have never fought each other - so they both read books to prepare and practice and then the day arrives, but they both fail, so a princess intercedes, gives them both another book and they end up in business together - the dragon barbecuing the meat the the knight serving. A fun twist on a traditional tale.

The dragon rises from the ashes of the desecrated bodies that have been eaten. It approaches the lonely knight who dares enter the cave it called home; the knight jumped in surprise when the dragon's form slowly melted to reveal the body of a young, muscular, man. His piercing yellow eyes a reminder to what he is underneath the human façade. The knight takes his chances and approaches the man, beast, in front of him. The dragon acknowledges his presence with his piercing eyes but nothing ...
